

National Commission for Women

Press Note

New Delhi, October 18th, 2018: The National Commission for Women is in receipt of formal written complaints from various women who have bravely come forward about instances of sexual harassment at their workplace.

The National Commission for Women follows a zero tolerance of sexual harassment of women at all workplaces and the Commission is committed to ensure safety and dignity of women including at all workplaces.

In light of the complaints received in the past few days, the National Commission for Women has decided to create a dedicated email ID to receive such complaints. The Commission urges women who have come forward on social media and other platforms about their alleged harassers to send their formal written complaints to ncw.metoo@gmail.com

The National Commission for Women will be taking forward complaints of sexual harassment at workplace received on ncw.metoo@gmail.com so that appropriate action may be taken, as per law.
